COMMENDS BUCKS COUNTY WOMEN FOR THE PART THEY ARE PLAYING IN CIVILIAN DEFENSE ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Mary Pillsbury Lord, New York City, Addresses Members of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs — Fall Meeting Held at Yardley

YARDELY, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Mary Pillsbury Lord, New York City, regional director in the office of Civilian Defense, was the guest speaker at the meeting here yesterday of the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs. About 200 women attended. Mrs. Lord commended Pennsylvania for the well organized set up, and especially mentioned Bucks County for its advanced and efficient working organization of civilian defense services. She stressed the fact that the war can be won or lost by the actions of the average citizens, and it is the duty of every member of a woman's club to assist others in understanding the rationing system, and to assist with the filling out and returning of the applications. She stressed the importance of nurses aid, stating there are already 48,000 in the United States.

Continuing Mrs. Lord said "every home is an arsenal of democracy, and 10,000,000 women are already registered for volunteer service in the United States." In closing she urged every woman to keep in closer contact with her local defense office, and to dig deeper into her time to assist in the work now being done in nurses aid, air watchers, volunteer police, welfare and any other branch of defense work.

Mrs. Charles S. Madcock, Jr., of Trenton, N. J., president of the New Jersey State Federation, was one of the speakers on the morning program, and had as her subject the "Place of the Club Woman in the War effort." She asked the question "Will girls go back to their homes after the war?" She stressed the fact that this great war has brought about global thinking, global education, and closed with the thought that "Home is the most important economic duty in the woman's life, since the future of a nation is in her hands."

Mrs. Alfred A. Crooks, of Norwood, State President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, was also a speaker, and selected as her subject, "Women on the Home Line of Defense for War Service." She spoke at length on "Rumor and Propaganda," and stressed the fact that a whisper might wipe out a whole battalion. Mrs. Crooks paid tribute to the women who had given their sons to the service, the WAAC and the WAVES; the Red Cross, and organizations which are prepared to serve in some war services. She stressed the need for nurses, and stated that the Women's Clubs of Pennsylvania had set aside a fund of $5,000 to be used for nurses scholarships.

Mrs. Crooks stressed the importance of club meetings and education after the war, in investments, capacity, finance, agriculture and foreign trade, and urged that the countries are fighting for a democracy patterned after that of United States. She closed with a quotation from Theodore Roosevelt, "What we care for most is character in individual men."

During the morning session, which was presided over by Mrs. Walter W. Ely, New Hope, president of the Bucks County Federation, Mrs. William Rorer, led in the pledge to the flag, and Rev. F. Lewis Watley, pastor of the Yardley Methodist Church, gave the invocation. The address of welcome was given by Miss Helen W. Leedom, president of the Yardley Civic Club, and Mrs. George W. Robbins, of the Makefield Mothers' Club, gave the response, paying tribute to the Yardley Club for its progress during the 25 years of existence. Mrs. Ralph Keller, of Perkasie, read the minutes, and Mrs.

Charles Leibig, Doylestown, read the treasurer's report. Mrs. Frank Magill, corresponding secretary, extended her appreciation to the Yardley Club for advising the entire membership of the County of the meeting.

The various departmental chairman made three minute reports as follows: Mrs. Linford Craven, Churchville, stressed the continuance of Victory Gardens, this coming year, roadside planting for safety and conservation, more trees on Arbor Day, and urged that a birdbath and sanctuary be placed in each school yard. She brought the thought of planting memory trees for each boy in the community who was in the service of his country.

Mrs. Lester Ransom, Langhorne, of the Motion Picture Department, said the movies of the future would build up the world, as we would be judged by movies, as they are one of the important medium of exchange with other countries. Special care should be taken in the selection of movies for the children.

Mrs. Isaac J. Van Artsdalen, chairman of radio for the county, introduced for the group the state chairman of radio, Mrs. James Beattie, of Upper Merion.

Mr. West, who had been suffering from a heart ailment for some time, had attended a meeting of Morrisville Rotary Club at the Y. M. C. A., Trenton, earlier in the evening.

Car-Sharing Pool Is Saving Gasoline, Rubber

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Oct. 31.—A group of men residing in South Langhorne and vicinity, heeding the call of the O. P. A. to save gas and tires of private automobiles, have adopted a share-the-ride plan in getting to and from their work in Trenton.

In effect for sometime, the plan is proving to be not only a gas and tire saver for the war effort, but also is providing a saving in operating costs for the car owners.

The scheme was started as a day-to-day alternating plan by two pioneer members. For several months the men rode to Trenton in one member's car and returned in the other's, both cars being used in the daily business of the owners in Trenton. A third member was enabled to keep his car in Trenton for daily business use, most of the time, doing necessary family driving around home in a relative's machine.

Up to 10 persons have participated in the car-sharing pool on certain days.

The permanent membership of active drivers comprises Dr. Howard Dillingham, Langhorne Manor; Samuel Russell an Harry May, South Langhorne, and John Crowley, Oakliff.

Says Mr. Crowley: "The present schedule (subject to change as are all time-tables), includes two carloads of Trenton-bound workers leaving Flannery's corner, Durham Road and the Lincoln Highway, South Langhorne, at 7:25 a. m. and 8:10 a. m.; returning, leave Trenton at five and 5:30 p. m. Other local people working in Trenton have been invited to join the group to share in the gas-tire savings plan."

TO THE VOTERS OF BUCKS COUNTY:

Cards are being circulated among and statements are being made to the voters of Bucks County indicating that a voter can vote a straight Party ticket and still vote for an individual candidate of an opposite Party. This is deceptive and misleading, as the only straight ticket for all of the candidates of a Party is an "X" marked in the Party square opposite the Party of your choice. Any other marking is not a straight Party ticket.

RATIONING BOARD OFFERS TO ASSIST IN MAKING OUT FORMS FOR THE RATIONING OF FUEL OIL TO RESIDENTS

The Bristol Rationing Board is now caught up with the re-rationing of gasoline and offers to assist the residents with the rationing of fuel oil for private dwellings.

Those who desire assistance must furnish the following information to the Board:

1. The square feet measurement of each room in the dwelling except those excluded in the explanation.

2. The amount of fuel oil used last year from the 31st of May 1941 to the 31st of May 1942. This information will be delivered to the consumer by the dealer. If fuel oil users have not yet received the statement from the dealer they should get in touch with him at once, as he has been supplied with forms and should not delay in sending them to his customers. Those who dealt with the Taylor station at South Bristol, which has now gone out of business, should produce their delivery slips.

3. The amount in gallons of fuel oil on hand as of October 1st.

By referring to the form known as O.P.A. R. 1109 places will be found for recording these particulars. All the other questions should be answered after which the form may be either sent or delivered to the rationing board. The extensions will then be figured and passed on to a group or committee of teachers who will have charge of the rationing when it takes place on November 15th. This suggestion is made because so many residents are asking about the fuel oil rationing and it is thought by giving them some help it will greatly expedite the rationing by disposing of most of it before the period arrives.

The registering of fuel oil dealers will take place next week at the Rationing office on Farragut avenue. Those dealers who have received their forms and have made them out, need not wait until the day of registration, but can hand them in at any time. This will help relieve the congestion on the registration day.

Several of the new committees on the enlarged board are now functioning. The Appeal Committee met for the first time on Wednesday evening. A new ruling of the O. P. A. makes it necessary for an applicant who is dissatisfied, to appeal to the local appeal committee first before he can carry his case higher. The local committee was able to decide all the appeals on Wednesday evening with a few exceptions. Those were referred to Doylestown for a further interpretation of the law. It was the policy of the former board to encourage applicants when dissatisfied with the decision, to appeal to higher authority. Many followed the advice of the Board but with very few exceptions the decisions of the Board were sustained. Beside this a representative of the Philadelphia Board made periodic visits to the Bristol Board and confirmed the decisions. This system is now changed and the local appeal committee will handle all appeals.

Form O. P. A. R-122 must be used in making an appeal. Two copies must be filled out whenever an appeal is made. Heretofore the appeals were sent by the local board to the Regional

Clothing Ignites From Fire In A Small Coal Stove,
Friday

IN ABINGTON HOSPITAL

A 97-year-old woman resident of Jefferson avenue was painfully burned yesterday at her home, when her clothing ignited from a coal fire in a small stove.

The victim is Mrs. Mary Jane Sharp. She suffered second degree burns of her back, and parts of her face and hands.

Although suffering great pain, Mrs. Sharp, who was alone at the time, managed to splash water on herself, and then went to the second floor to change her clothing. Returning to the first floor, the pain was so great she screamed for aid, and neighbors went to her assistance.

As Mrs. Sharp was able to inform relatives later, she sat in a chair near a small stove, she evidently having turned on the draft. In some manner her apron became ignited when she got up, and it was entirely burned with the exception of the strings. The remainder of her clothing was burned in portions, even her undergarments.

Mrs. Sharp was treated by a physician at her home last evening before being removed to Abington Hospital in an ambulance. Blood plasma was also administered. It is planned today to give her transfusions.

Mrs. Sharp is the widow of John Sharp. She resides with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Finney.

SAYS GUILD GIFTS GIVE SELF-RESPECT AS WELL AS WARMTH

Miss Mary E. Seiders, Social Worker, Gives Incentive To Local Guild

ANNUAL GATHERING

2,604 Garments Received; To Be Distributed Among Those in Need

An idea of how the Needlework Guild garments give not only warmth and self-respect, but also renewed hope and off-times a real start in life, was recounted yesterday afternoon to members and friends of Bristol Guild, when they listened to Miss Mary E. Seiders, of the Preston Retreat Hospital, Philadelphia.

Miss Seiders, a nurse and likewise a social worker for a period of years, told on the occasion of the annual exhibit of garments of Bristol Guild of numerous cases she had handled personally, where the Needlework Guild garments proved to be a God-send.

Introduced by the Guild president, Mrs. Warren P. Snyder, at the Community House, the guest speaker proved that "good deeds never die" as she showed how in case after case those aided had even years later gratefully acknowledged the new start given them through Guild gifts or through kindnesses of Miss Seiders and her co-workers.

As she glanced about at the tables and lines containing 2,604 new garments, Miss Seiders said: "I don't know what we social workers of Philadelphia and in fact throughout the world, would have done if it hadn't been for the Needlework Guild."

And even with the depression past you must remember that there are always a certain number of poor people we must do something for."

Telling of Preston Retreat, she mentioned that it is over 100 years old, and is the only institution of its kind in Philadelphia, it being a maternity hospital for respectable, poor, married women. "Every home is investigated before we admit the patient. And I would like to state that during the 10 to 15 years of the depression not one in this room knew anything about a depression as those poor people knew a depression. In one home which I visited I found five little children, the baby being only nine months old. They had had nothing warm to eat. The gas and electric current had been shut off, and for three days they had had no heat. But those people, like so many we come in contact with, had a certain pride. They did not tell of their need. I showed the father how to heat soup by holding the pot on the raker in the heater as we burned some paper. And how those children relished that soup. And always believing in preparedness I had in my car a bundle of garments from the Needlework Guild. I took the clothing into the home and outfitted the children with warm underwear and with outer-garments. A different light was thrown in that home—by the Needlework Guild garments." Miss Seiders told of how the burden of parents of a baby that had died had been made a little easier when she was able to give them new Guild garments in which to dress the little body for the last time.

Continuing to tell of her experiences she mentioned a family of seven young boys. "And when I delivered the mother of a baby girl, those boys thought I was their guardian angel." Assistance through more Guild garments enabled the entire family to attend Sunday School, but the pride of the boys was in their bright-colored wash-cloths also distributed by Miss Seiders.

This social worker, who distributes practically her entire salary among

PACIFIC STRATEGY

American action in the Aleutian coinciding with concentration by the Japanese of their main attack on Guadalcanal in the Solomons is a tip on American strategy in bringing the aggressors to time in the Pacific.

The Nipponese are over-extended. Early in the war when Allied strength had not yet reached the scene, the Japs could keep several campaigns progressing successfully. They could shift their limited aid power about as needed. But now that the United States has numerous concentrations in the Pacific war arena and the Japs are tied up in Manchukuo, China, Burma and elsewhere, in addition to the compulsion upon them to keep large policing forces at numerous points they are able to undertake only an offensive at a time. While they are exerting pressure at one point, as in Guadalcanal, America can blast them at another point, as in the Aleutians.

This process will be continued with American attacks becoming increasingly formidable. The United States is in position to strike on from Pearl Harbor as well as from Alaska, America and her Allies have growing forces in China, Burma and Australia, forcing Japan to remain on the alert there to try to prevent penetrations of its unconsolidated territorial spoils of war.

The inevitable result will be a break-through eventually at some point by Allied armed might. The Japanese must hold everything or they can hold nothing. When America and the Allies move bombers, submarines and other offensive weapons into advanced positions within the enemy's defensive circle, Japan will begin to crack. The pounding process leading to that goal already is under way.

AIR SAFETY ADVANCE

Lee DeForest, who did much for radio, is working on the last stages of a new altimeter for airplanes which will show the pilot the distance he is from the ground beneath him or from ground ahead of him. It is expected to solve the problem of frequent collisions of planes in mountainous areas.

The aneroid reading, now in use, gives the pilot his height in terms of sea level. The new instrument will deal only with the ground within a range of five miles. Up to that distance it will reveal to the flier the nearness of ground below him or beyond him.

The impulse is sent out from the plane through antennae and when it encounters ground bounces back and is registered on the dashboard.

REV. B. D. CLIFFORD IS TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Special Series Opens Monday Evening at Bristol Presbyterian Church

BRISTOL CHURCH NEWS

The Rev. Bronwen Davies Clifford will be the guest speaker in Bristol Presbyterian Church beginning Monday evening and continuing through Sunday, November 15th. The services will begin each evening at 7:30 and will be under the leadership of the Rev. James R. Galley, pastor of the church.

The Rev. Clifford received his education in Grove City College, Grove City, and the Eastern Theological Seminary, Philadelphia. In his four years of ministry in the evangelistic field he has spoken to congregations which total more than a million people, preaching at times to crowds of 20,000 to 30,000. The Rev. Clifford was recently recognized by the editors of "Who's Who Among Speakers" as one of the greatest evangelistic preachers in America today.

Conducting campaigns in some of the most outstanding pulpits in America, he has been acclaimed by leaders of several of the outstanding denominational bodies. Several years ago he was director of the World Student Christian Crusade, an organization devoted to the Christian education of college and university students. While director of this group it was Rev. Clifford's privilege to preach to the largest congregation ever assembled in the Temple of Religion at the New York World's Fair. In the last three years he has spoken to over 400 high school, college and university student bodies in the United States and Canada.

Says Guild Gifts Give Self-Respect As Well As Warmth

those in need, commented on that phase: "I find the Lord takes care of you if you do for others." From her funds she gave to one of the seven boys, who was appointed family treasurer, a sum of money, stipulating that each member of the family was to be given two cents as an offering for each church service they attended. The "secretary" another boy was to give a report on attendance at the end of the month. A president was also elected. "Those parents and children attended services every Sunday. And today five of those boys are in the service of their country. Maybe if we had more families like that today we could be prouder of our families. I taught those boys in the Sunday School and I receive letters from them from time to time. One of the boys told me recently in a letter that he is in the places in the Pacific which I read about in the newspapers. 'And it's just as bad as you read about,' he added. He told me, 'If today I meet my God, I'll tell Him of the good done by you.'"

Then commented the speaker: "But I couldn't do that good without you. Guild women and your garments. You make me happy by giving me garments for others."

The guest told of three women who came to her recently for aid, all of whom had lost their husbands by death, and all three of whom are expecting babies. "And those women are trying to work to earn their own living. It's not the careless people only whom we help. They are the type of people of whom you have to inquire about conditions. They don't ask and."

An interesting account was given by Miss Seiders of her visit at one time to what is termed the "neck" of Philadelphia, she being accompanied by a husky nurse, while a police car patrolled the area, an officer keeping an eye out for her safety. Visiting each home in one section she listed names of all children and young people, also ages and clothing needs so they might attend Sunday School or church services. On the following day, a Guild near Philadelphia provided the needed garments which were distributed at once. "On the following Sunday those 32 Protestant children and 23 Catholic children attended their churches, one clergyman called to ask if I was the one who had made his Sunday School overflow and offering to assist him. I found that help was needed in teaching. In addition to my class at my own church I taught a class there. Many of those young folks later acknowledged Christ as their personal savior. Yes, women, if ever you needed to keep anything up it is your Needlework Guild activities."

Miss Seiders told that over 18,000 babies have been delivered at Preston Retreat, a 50-bed hospital. "Your garments answer God's promise to Jonas. Preston years ago, he in his dream realizing that God promised he would always be with Preston Retreat if Jonas would leave his money for establishment of such an institution."

The honor roll for 1942 contained garments accredited as follows: Edgely group, 257; sewing department, 276; Mrs. Griffith L. Williams, 269; Mrs. Clifford L. Anderson, 197; Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, 115; Mrs. James Lefferts, 112.

The total of 2,661, was slightly less than last year when the total reached 2,932. Warm underwear, night-dresses, pajamas, knickers, blouses and shirts, sturdy jackets, sweaters, caps and bunnies, hosiery, wash-cloths and towels, handkerchiefs, dresses, slippers, gloves, all types of baby clothes, etc., were included in the donations.

The session opened with the group offering the Lord's prayer. Mrs. Harry Pope read minutes of the last meeting, and Mrs. Williams gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Ancker, past president of the Guild, was called upon to make brief remarks. "We put our heart into the deed when we give our garments to the Needlework Guild," she said. Mrs. Ancker suggested that one day each month the members think particularly about the Guild work, and secure some garments for the ingathering.

Mrs. L. J. Bevan and Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Sr., were named as auditors. As a committee to distribute the garments, Mrs. Paul V. Forster, Mrs. Frederick King, Mrs. Ellen Cunningham, were named, with the president also aiding.

A bouquet of gold-toned chrysanthemums was presented to Miss Seiders to take to the Preston Retreat.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Maude Morris.

Rationing Board Offers To Assist in Making Out Forms For Rationing of Fuel Oil appeal board. Now a dissatisfied applicant who wants to go higher than the Bristol appeal committee must appeal to the State Director in Philadelphia. The next step would be an appeal to the Regional Director and lastly to the main office at Washington. The Washington office reserves the right to consider the appeal or refuse to consider it. Under certain conditions an appeal that has been disposed of may be reconsidered and the former decision reversed.

Many applicants whose books not yet applied for their new books. This is an indication that they are using the coupons which they have on hand. This is unlawful as the books with the coupons still on hand should have been surrendered on Oct. 22nd. If application is not made for the new books on or before Wednesday of next week and the old books surrendered, the Board will be forced to begin to tailor the new books and to take from them sufficient coupons to cover the mileage consumed from October 22 to the date of the delivery of the new books.

A meeting will be held in the office of the Bristol Rationing Board on Monday afternoon at which time several of the O. P. A. officials will be present and explain the workings of the new fuel oil rationing laws. Following this meeting the Board will be able to answer questions relating to the heating of apartment houses, hotels, garages, etc. Information as to the rationing of kerosene will also be received. A committee of men teachers from the Bristol high school will be present to listen to the instructions. They will form the committee which will pass on the rationing applications first. It can be seen how the public by filing their applications promptly will help to expedite the fuel rationing.

The fire situation seems to be growing worse. The allotment is not sufficient to meet the demands and many who have been allotted rations find they have returned their applications stating that the rations are worthless.

The registration of trucks has been taken out of the hands of the local boards. Blank forms are being sent out by the O. P. D. who will have charge of the rationing. It will be interesting to know that the "S" stamps will be worthless after November 15. A new stamp called "T" will be issued.

Violin selections were given by Samuel Alger, of Makefield School, who was accompanied at the piano by his mother.

The afternoon session was opened with a concert by the Yardley High School Orchestra, under the direction of Clarence Rumpf, who had selected several marches and patriotic numbers.

One of the high lights of the afternoon was the vocal selections by Miss Doris Slaffoff, of Trenton, who was accompanied at the piano, by Miss Splendora Leone, of the Trenton Conservatory of Music. Miss Slaffoff, had as her numbers, a Spanish song, "Little Star," "The Laughing Song" from the Bat and "Coming Through the Rye."

Mrs. Ely announced the winter conference in the Doylestown Inn, on January 18th, and named as a nominating committee to select officers for the coming year: Mrs. Samuel Alt-house, of Newtown; Mrs. William Fineman, of Lumberville, and Mrs. Walter B. Wiley, of Buckingham.

A donation of $50 was made to the American Red Cross; and $50 was given to the Bucks County Tuberculosis Society. Leigh Mitchell Hodges, of Doylestown, was present and gave the group an idea of the value of investment in the Tuberculosis Seals for Christmas mails, stating that there were more than 300 cases in the county, and that $12,000 was required to finance these cases each year.

Mrs. Thomas B. Stockham, of Morrisville, said the welfare at the home front will benefit the boys on the battle front. Mrs. Raymond Hampton, president of the Yardley Junior Civic Club, read the report of the county chairman on Junior Work, and stated that all the clubs were doing all phases of defense work, taking courses, in various branches, selling war bonds and stamps, working with the Red Cross. There was a balance of $914.34 in their scholarship fund, and a nurse was being financed with some of the money.

Mrs. G. Howard Cliffe, of Langhorne, closed the meeting with a courtesy tribute to the hostess club, the Yardley Civic Club.

William Eves To Leave For England

two organizations have also co-operated in the work of the Friends Ambulance Unit in China.

Mr. Eves' last trip to Europe was in the summer of 1939 when he traveled on the continent and in England in connection with the Quaker work for Central European refugees. He was in England during the last few days of August and on the first of September, the date war broke out, and witnessed the first evacuation of children from London and the beginning of all night blackouts and barrage balloons.

The Friends Ambulance Unit in China transports medical supplies throughout the interior of China and ministers to the needs of wounded military and civilian alike, in the areas in which they work. Approximately 75 young Englishmen have been sent overseas to China in the last two years. A Canadian physician is head of the unit. Several American doctors have already reached China, three men especially trained as auto mechanics are on their way and seven others are awaiting passage. These men are all conscientious objectors and this is their way of service in war time. Before the fall of Burma, many of the trucks of the Ambulance Unit were transporting supplies from Lashio into China. When Lashio fell some of the supplies were lost and several men were forced to make their way through the jungle into India.

The China Unit is financed jointly from America and England. The American Friends Service Committee is one of the participating agencies of the United China Relief. The American Friends Service Committee is a part of the $7,000,000 per year being raised by United China Relief.

During the heavy part of the bombing of England, British War Relief made a regular monthly appropriation to the Friends work in England. The American Quakers are continuing monthly financial grants. John W. Cadbury, 3rd, of Moorestown, N. J., is their representative regularly attached to the London staff. Mr. Eves will visit a number of English cities to inspect the work in bombed areas.

O Lord, our God, clarify our thinking in regard to thy providence. Let us not become confused by the events of the world; let us not become embittered by the necessary separation which accompanies warfare; let us not forsake thee because of hardship and trial. Rather, O God, let us see that by thy providence thou wilt give unto us that strength which we need for the successful bearing of our burdens, to thy glory and for the advancement of thy Kingdom. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Trevoze Came Back Strong In The Final Quarter To Win Tilt

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 31—The annual gridiron game between the Trevoze public school and the Bensalem Junior High school ended in a 14-7 victory for the Trevoze team yesterday afternoon on the Bensalem field. Last season, Trevoze countered with a close 7-6 triumph.

The boys of Howard Hilgendorf drew first blood in the second period when R. Despo broke loose on an off-tackle play, dodged three Bensalem players and raced 81 yards to score the touchdown. He then crashed through the line to score the extra point to give his club a 7-0 lead.

The lead appeared good until the latter part of the third quarter when Bensalem started a drive from its own thirty-yard line and featured by two 20 yard runs by Dietch and Hansen carried the ball to the Trevoze thirteen yard line. From here Hansen rifled a pass to Foster for a six-pointer and following this Hansen deadlocked the score by whipping an aerial to E. Cicero for the extra point.

In the final quarter, Trevoze came back strong and with Despo and Mellon continually pounding the line, went sixty yards down the field, making first down after first down until the ball rested on the Bensalem two yard stripe. Here Eddie Mellon ploughed over for the winning touchdown and also added the extra point on a line play.

As the Trevoze students enter Bensalem Township high school upon graduation, it can be seen that Coach Norman Wetherhold has a nice batch of material coming up from the smaller schools in the township section.

YOU ARE ON THE FIRING LINE NOVEMBER 3RD.

THEN IS THE TIME TO CHOOSE YOUR REPRESENTATIVES AT WASHINGTON AND HARRISBURG

PUT YOUR TRUST IN REPUBLICANISM AND VOTE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD.

DECIDING OUR GOVERNMENTAL POLICIES BY VOTING IS ONE OF THE CHERISHED GUARANTEES UNDER OUR CONSTITUTION. THE PRESENT WAR IS BEING WAGED PRIMARILY TO SAFEGUARD FOR US THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS ALREADY POSSESSED. NEVER IN THE LIFE OF OUR REPUBLIC WAS THE OUTCOME OF AN ELECTION MORE IMPORTANT TO EVERY CITIZEN, PARTICULARLY TO THE BOYS IN UNIFORM. THEY ARE FIGHTING THE WORLD BATTLE 365 DAYS OF THE YEAR. IS IT TOO MUCH TO ASK THAT YOU GIVE ONE DAY ON THE HOME FRONT?

The issues to be settled on November 3rd next will vitally affect you and yours far into the future. Those who are to represent you in Washington and at Harrisburg should be carefully selected. You will vote to elect one Congressman-at-Large from Pennsylvania and one Congressman locally. These two men for two years will help determine the conduct of the war and what burdens will be laid upon you in taxation and service to make the war effort successful.

In Bucks County, you will elect your representative to the State Senate of Pennsylvania, one of the fifty members of that body, and two of the Representatives in the lower house of the General Assembly. These two bodies, with the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth, will determine what laws shall be placed upon the Statute books of Pennsylvania in the next two years, and what the State's contribution shall be to the war effort in this the greatest industrial state in the Union.

The Republican Party is pledged, and so are its candidates, to an all-out support of the war effort both at Washington and Harrisburg. They are pledged to decent, clean government and economical expenditures for civilian purposes so that the greatest amount possible may be available for war.

The most important office to be filled is that of Governor, who, for the next four years will lead this Commonwealth. Almost every problem that will confront him will be related to the war. The Republican Party, cognizant of the tremendous responsibilities that will confront him, has selected General Edward Martin. He will bring to that office forty-four years training in military affairs including participation in the Spanish American War, the Mexican incident and the leadership of troops on the front line in France in World War I, where he was gassed, twice wounded and twice decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross. He is equally conversant with our civilian problems having served as Auditor General and State Treasurer of Pennsylvania to which offices he was elected as the Republican candidate with majorities in each instance of a few thousand votes less than a million.

The PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER editorially on Sunday, October 18, summarized the campaign in these words:

"Pennsylvania has an opportunity of placing in the Governor's office precisely the right man at precisely the right time. To fit Pennsylvania's arsenal tightly and concretely into the structure of America at war we need General Martin as Governor."

The ballot below will show you the candidates for whom you vote when you vote a straight Republican ticket thus—
